

Advanced Auto Theft Class

Anchorage Police Department – May 13, 2016

Instructed by Scott Wagner from the National Insurance Crime Bureau

Topics Include:

- Latest automobile lock defeating devices. (Electronic and lock picking tools)
- Current auto theft trends including vehicle cloning and VIN switching
- Auto theft investigative tools and methods of identifying stolen recovered and burned vehicles.
- Current fraud trends related to vehicles, tow companies, wrecking yards and chop shops.
- Information and procedures for LE to receive bait and undercover vehicles from NICB.
- Q & A and open discussion, as to what you all are seeing in Alaska.

About Scott Wagner:

Scott began his 10-year law enforcement career in 1986 as a Texas State Officer. His last four years he served as a detective investigating various types of organized criminal activity. Scott was a police instructor for the state police academy, a field-training officer, and developed and supervised an organized crime unit for the Texas State Police. In 1996 Scott became a fraud investigator within the insurance industry in Texas; moving to Washington in 1999. In February 2003 Scott began his career with NICB as a special agent handling vehicle investigations for Washington State and Alaska. In addition to these duties, he is an instructor, develops training programs, and is the media spokesperson for the North West Region of NICB. He has appeared on the ABC Morning Show, several News and Radio Stations and appeared in a reality TV Show called "Test Drive."

Registration:

Anchorage Police Department Training Center

Anna Venhuizen

AVenhuizen@muni.org

(907) 343-6400