LETTER FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Council Executive Director Lauree Morton

FY 2014 was a busy year both for crisis intervention and for prevention! Victim Service Providers reported high usage levels and several communities took great strides in expanding prevention efforts.

From establishing a sexual assault response team (SART) in Kodiak to support survivors, enhance prosecution and reduce incident rates of sexual violence to a Fourth R master trainer on the North Slope; from Teens Acting Against Violence in the Y-K Delta to Girls on the Run in Southeast; from Green Dot on the Kenai to Erin's Policy for Child Sexual Abuse Prevention in the Fairbanks North Star Borough School District; change is happening, Alaskans across our state are saying NO MORE.

Nineteen communities attended the Prevention Summit, sharing strategies and ideas for keeping domestic violence and sexual assault from ever happening; strengthening their plans, sharing experiences and learning from each other.

Shelters and rape crisis centers in communities such as Unalaska, Cordova, Valdez and Nome ensured help was available through hot lines, support groups, advocacy and shelter 24/7. Nearly 3,000 Alaskans donated 75,233 hours of their time to support victims across the state as they sought safety and worked to create violence-free lives.

I hope you'll take to heart the information in this report and seek ways to get involved in our state's progress toward safe and respectful living. As Green Dotters would say: green dot is simply your individual choice at any given moment to make our communities safer.... no one has to do everything, but everyone has to do something...What's your GREEN DOT?"

OUR VISION:

Alaska, free from domestic and sexual violence

OUR MISSION:

The Council provides safety for Alaskans impacted or victimized by domestic violence and sexual assault through a system of statewide crisis intervention, perpetrator accountability and prevention services

OUR PURPOSE:

“ There is established in the Department of Public Safety the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault. The purpose of the council is to provide for planning and coordination of services to victims of domestic violence or sexual assault or to their families and to perpetrators of domestic violence and sexual assault, and to provide for crisis intervention and prevention programs.”

-Alaska Statute § 18.66.010

INTRODUCTION

The Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault (The Council or CDVSA) was created by legislation and established in the Department of Public Safety in 1981. For more than 30 years, the Council has funded programs across the state of Alaska to end domestic violence and sexual assault. In FY 2014, the Council funded and supported 20 victim service programs and monitored 15 community and prison-based batterer intervention programs.

COUNCIL FUNDED PROGRAMS PROVIDE:

- 24-hour emergency support;
- Safe shelter;
- Safety planning;
- Prevention initiatives;
- Children's services including child care, counseling, and group activities;
- Counseling for victims;
- Accountability for batterers;
- Information and referral for employment, housing, and medical care;
- Legal advocacy and civil legal referral;
- Community coordination focused on systemic change;
- Rural outreach and community education programs;

THE COUNCIL ALSO DIRECTLY FUNDS TRAINING FOR:

- Law enforcement personnel;
- Health providers and counselors;
- Attorneys and court personnel;
- Staff of Native organizations and other community groups;
- School based educators;
- Prevention coordinators and advocates.

COUNCIL PURPOSE AREAS, GOALS & ACTIVITIES

PURPOSE AREAS:

- Prevention;
- Crisis Management and Intervention;
- Perpetrator Accountability.

GOALS:

- Coordinate domestic violence and sexual assault prevention efforts in Alaska;
- Provide immediate, appropriate crisis response, intervention and shelter;
- Build public awareness and support for crisis management and intervention services;
- Develop crisis management options that allow victims, if they choose to do so, to stay safely in their homes while perpetrators are removed;
- Perpetrators will be held accountable for their actions;
- Implement and maintain best practices in the operation of programs providing domestic violence and sexual assault services;
- Define and describe the scope and impact of domestic violence and sexual assault;
- Ensure effective Council administration.

ACTIVITIES:

- Coordinate services with the Departments of Law, Education, Public Safety, Health and Social Services, Corrections and other state and community groups dealing with our identified population;
- Request, receive, and disperse funds from the State of Alaska and the federal government for domestic violence and sexual assault programs;
- Gather data on domestic violence, sexual assault, crisis intervention, and prevention;
- Fund and support 20 victim service programs in 18 Alaska communities, collectively serving 235 towns and villages throughout the state;
- Monitor and provide technical assistance to 11 approved community based and 4 prison based Batterer Intervention Programs;
- Coordinate and fund training on issues of domestic violence and sexual assault to government agencies, law enforcement, community agencies, and the public;
- Conduct quarterly public meetings and participate in public forums on a regular basis.

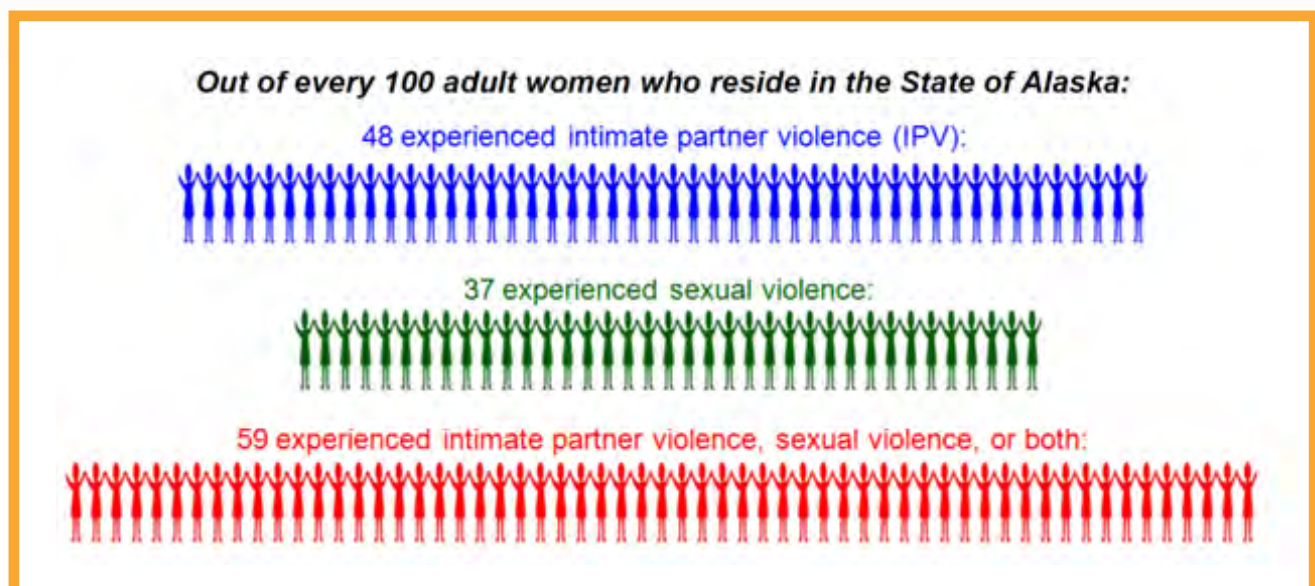

ALASKA'S DASHBOARD AND ALASKA VICTIMIZATION SURVEY

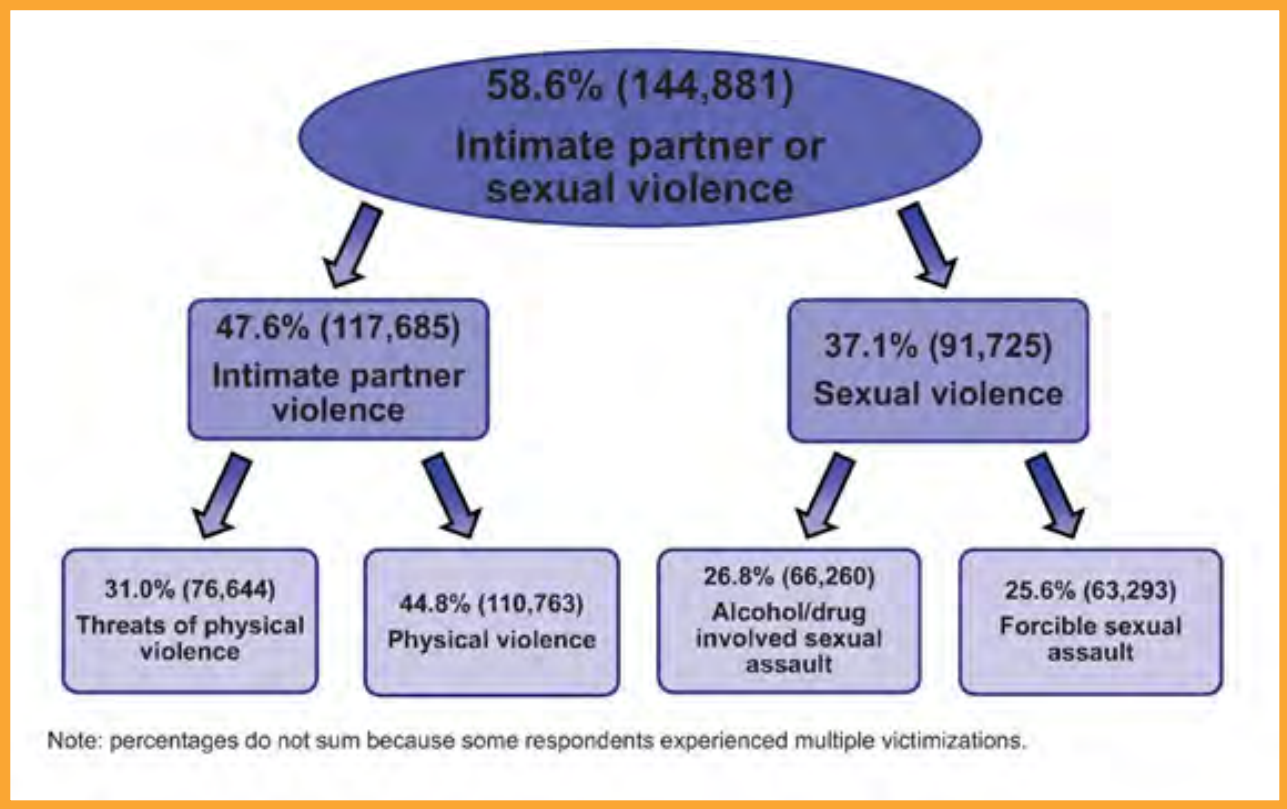

In May and June 2010, 971 randomly selected Alaska women were surveyed over the phone. Questions were asked about specific behaviors, resulting in Alaska's first comprehensive look at intimate partner violence and sexual assault against women.

Results from the survey are used to guide planning and policy development, effectively evaluate the impact of prevention and intervention services, and provide greater empirical support for preventing and responding to violence against women.

In FY 12 the Council initiated the Alaska Dashboard, which provides a broad overview of population indicators on key issues impacting domestic violence and sexual assault in Alaska. The Dashboard looks at reported incidents, service utilization, protective factors, offender accountability and victimization survey results to provide a clearer picture of what is happening across the state. <http://dps.state.ak.us/cdvsa/Resources-Dashboard.html>

THE ALASKA VICTIMIZATION SURVEY INDICATED:

“The Council now has both statewide and regional data and plans call for continuation of the Alaska Victimization Survey every five years in order to make sure that changes can be accurately tracked over time.”

CDVSA 2014 HIGHLIGHTS

FUNDED 20 VICTIM SERVICE PROGRAMS ACROSS THE STATE RESULTING IN:

- 2,983 people volunteering 75,233 hours of service to the cause;
- Approximately 450 staff members operating programs 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to ensure safe refuge and help their communities develop strategies for creating peace;
- 87% of program participants learning more about resources and help available to themselves and their families and how to access those resources;
- 85% of program participants knowing more or different intervention safety strategies than they did prior to the interaction.

BIP ROUNDTABLE

Stakeholders from victim services, batterer intervention programs, the departments of corrections and law, and the court system drafted regulations for programs seeking approval to provide batterer intervention services. The regulations are slated for public comment in FY 2015 and for implementation in FY 2016.

FUNDED PUBLIC AWARENESS AND PREVENTION CAMPAIGNS THROUGHOUT THE STATE, INCLUDING:

- Respect is Always the Right Choice;
- Real Alaskans Choose Respect;
- Stand Up Speak Up Youth Initiative;
- When I Am An Elder;
- The Alaska Fourth R;

SART SUSTAINABILITY

Sexual Assault Response Teams (SART) generally include victim advocates, law enforcement officers and health care providers. These team members provide a coordinated, efficient and supportive response to persons who have been sexually assaulted while focusing on a victim's needs and choices. SARTs are designed to reduce the trauma of interacting with the system for victims as well as to increase the likelihood that assaults can be successfully prosecuted.

SART trainings were held in Palmer, Kenai, Anchorage and Juneau during FY 2014. Teams from the Mat-Su, Bethel, Kenai, Homer, Barrow, Cordova, Dillingham, Juneau, Ketchikan, Anchorage, Unalaska and Fairbanks attended the trainings. The weeklong training focuses on team-building while strengthening response skills for advocates, law enforcement officers and health care professionals.

PUBLIC AWARENESS & PREVENTION PROGRAMMING

In FY14 the Council supported the expansion of the public awareness, prevention and community engagement projects that were initiated in 2010. The Council contracted and worked in partnership with Christianson Communications, the Alaska Network on Domestic Violence & Sexual Assault (ANDVSA) and other key state and community stakeholders to coordinate and grow the work of prevention across Alaska.

Christianson Communications worked with CDVSA to assure statewide placement of Public Service Announcements related to the subjects of prevention, bystander intervention, and/or the effects of domestic and sexual violence. The PSA campaigns aired continued to build on the messaging of previous prevention and bystander Intervention Campaigns and were targeted to interventions appropriate to specific regions and populations in Alaska. The agency worked closely with CDVSA staff to develop a media buy schedule that maximized the state's dollars for media placement. In addition, the agency worked with the Council to design and revamp the Council's website for easier access to information and improved safety for victims.

RESPECT IS ALWAYS THE RIGHT CHOICE

The Respect is Always the Right Choice campaign shows what choosing respect can look like in real situations Alaskans encounter. The series lets Alaskan's know that help is available for victims of domestic violence and/or sexual assault; highlights the work the Council is doing to reduce violence and instructs bystanders by providing examples of ways to safely intervene in situations that could potentially lead to violence. The spots can be viewed at: <http://dps.state.ak.us/cdvsa/Media.html>

ALASKA MEN CHOOSE RESPECT

The Alaska Men Choose Respect Campaign (formerly Real Alaska Men Choose Respect) began in 2010. The statewide campaign encourages men to become actively involved in preventing violence, strengthening communities and promoting respect. The campaign includes: PSA's, a website and opportunities to implement projects at the community level through CDVSA funded mini-grants.

In FY 2014, seven Alaska Men Choose Respect Mini-grants were awarded to communities across the state which included: Anchorage, Cordova, Fairbanks, Homer, Juneau, Tanacross and Unalaska.

The projects were community specific and incorporated healthy relationships or sexual violence prevention messages into each initiative. The projects used a combination of sports based, culture based, outdoor based, and media based activities to engage men and build prevention programming in communities. All projects encouraged male leadership in the movement to end domestic and sexual violence. Complete project descriptions and the AMCR website can be viewed at: <http://www.alaskamenchooserespect.org>

REAL ALASKAN'S CHOOSE RESPECT

The "Real Alaskans Choose Respect" campaign airs on a wide range of stations throughout the state. The campaign focuses on two main themes: getting help if you are a victim of domestic violence or sexual assault and the role Alaskans have to play in changing attitudes towards violence. The PSA series can be viewed at: <http://dps.state.ak.us/cdvsa/Media.html>

STAND UP SPEAK UP

Stand Up, Speak Up (SUSU) is a media and engagement campaign that was developed in partnership with the Alaska Network on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault; the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault; Alaska Department of Health and Social Services Division of Public Health; Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium and youth ages 12-18 from across Alaska. Youth from Ketchikan, Sitka, Bethel, Anchorage, Gustavus, Buckland, Kiana, Juneau, Dillingham, Akiak, Kipnuk, Mt. Edgecumbe High School and Youth Alliance for a Healthier Alaska participated in the development of SUSU materials. Through this campaign, youth learn how to more effectively speak up and encourage other youth to stand up to end violence. The campaign focuses on six key areas: relationship basics; building a peer culture; respecting yourself; leading the way; keep respect going and getting help. The campaign includes media, a standalone website, posters and informational cards and social networking sites. The campaign measures changes through focus groups, surveys and media metrics in: relationship values and attitudes towards respect; social norms or attitudes about violence in relationships; recall of prevention messaging; and youth engagement measures. It includes mini-grants to support community-based projects. The community-based projects are youth led and promote leadership skills, healthy relationships and respect among their peers. A complete listing of completed projects from 2014 can be accessed at:

“WHEN I AM AN ELDER” is part of the Stand Up Speak Up prevention campaign. The PSA’s are based on a poem, called “When I’m an Elder”(WIAE) created and written by Bethel Teens Acting Against Violence (TAAV) in 2002. In fiscal year 2014, the community of Old Harbor participated in the development of a new WIAE TV PSA which was then rotated into the existing spots including: Bethel, Barrow, Southeast Alaska and Minto. The WIAE campaign was awarded an Alaska Broadcast Association Goldie Award in fiscal year 2014. To learn more about WIAE and the Stand Up Speak Up prevention campaign visit:

THE ALASKA FOURTH R EVALUATION PROJECT

The “Fourth R” is a comprehensive school-based program designed to include students, teachers, parents, and the community in reducing violence and many of today’s risky behaviors. The curriculum has been evaluated in Canadian schools and is listed on the SAMHSA National Registry of Evidenced-based Programs and Practices (<http://www.nrepp.samhsa.gov>), this project is the first to evaluate its implementation and effectiveness among diverse Alaskan youth populations.

Choose Respect funds enabled the Council to take part in the Alaska Fourth R Curriculum Evaluation Project, a multi-site evaluation conducted in partnership with the Alaska Network on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault and the state Departments of Education & Early Development and Health and Social Services, Division of Public Health. More than 500 ninth graders in thirteen schools across twelve Alaska communities participated in the evaluation study. Community participants in the study included Barrow, Bethel, Cordova, Dillingham, Homer, Juneau, Kenai, Kodiak, Kotzebue, Soldotna, Valdez and Wrangell. Since 2011, more than 60 schools in 21 Alaska school districts received Fourth R curricula materials and more than 300 school staff and community partners throughout the state have been trained to teach the Fourth R program.

What the evaluation found was that youth who participated in the Fourth R program showed improved awareness of abusive behavior and reduced acceptance of physical aggression and social attitudes and beliefs around rape. The evaluator reported that the program helped provide social support to youth identified in at-risk groups.

Results also showed that both students and teachers who participated in the Fourth R program improved communications around healthy relationships, bystander intervention and conflict resolution. Teachers who had experience with other health curricula reported preferring the Fourth R to any other curricula. The evaluation was conducted by Strategic Prevention Solutions.

COACHING BOYS INTO MEN

Coaching Boys into Men (CBIM) is a comprehensive violence prevention curriculum for coaches and their athletes developed by Futures without Violence. The program engages athletic coaches through the Coaches Leadership Program to help shape the attitudes and behaviors of young male athletes. Athletic coaches play an extremely influential and unique role in the lives of young men, often serving as a parent or mentor to the boys they coach. Because of these special relationships, coaches are poised to positively influence how young men think and behave both on, and off, the field. From speeches to the team, practice sessions, or simply casual conversation, coaches have many opportunities to impart their philosophies to athletes. CBIM is currently being implemented by high school coaches of male athletic teams throughout the state. CDVSA in partnership with the Office of the Governor, Education and Early Development, Alaska School Activities Association and community based programs partner to host two statewide trainings annually. In fiscal year 2014, trainings were held in Fairbanks and Juneau and trained nearly 78 coaches in 36 communities. To learn more about Alaska's project visit: <https://www.facebook.com/CBIMAlaska> or visit the Futures Without Violence website at: <http://www.futureswithoutviolence.org/content/features/detail/811/>.

COMPASS

COMPASS, a Guide for Men, supports male mentors and youth, ages 12-18, to explore their values, goals, respect and unique identities. In response to requests from communities across the state, ANDVSA and the COMPASS Council created a resource for men connecting with young men in outdoor, subsistence, or athletic settings. The guide promotes meaningful conversations through the use of teachable moments, activities, storytelling, and discussions. For more information on the curriculum or to find out when the next COMPASS training will be held visit: www.alaskamenchooserespect.org.

GIRLS ON THE RUN

Girls On The Run is a 10-12 week after school program for girls in the 3rd through 5th grade that encourages positive emotional, social, mental and physical development. Participants explore and discuss their own beliefs around experiences and challenges girls face at this age. The program models healthy peer and adult role modeling, healthy relationships and provides the girls with opportunities to explore how they can positively connect with and shape the world. The program now offers a curriculum for 6th-8th grade girls and a “Let Me Run” program is also available for boys.

GREEN DOT-ALASKA

Green Dot is a bystander intervention program with the goal of preparing organizations and/or communities to implement a strategy of violence prevention that consistently and measurably reduces power-based personal violence. Power-based violence includes domestic violence, sexual assault, dating violence, stalking, elder abuse, child abuse and bullying. The Green Dot-Alaska project is being piloted in six communities: Anchorage, Bethel, Fairbanks, Homer, Kenai and on Prince of Wales Island. The project teaches community members how to safely act in potentially abusive or violent situations and encourages everyone to become involved in promoting safety and violence free communities. To learn more about Green Dot in Alaska visit www.greendotalaska.com or visit the national Green Dot website at: <https://www.livethegreendot.com/> to read about the history of the program and learn what other states are doing.

PARENT ENGAGEMENT – TALK NOW TALK OFTEN

The Talk Now Talk Often (TNTO) parent engagement project provides parents of teenagers with resources, an interactive website and conversation cards that are intended to assist parents and teens talk together about healthy dating relationships. The project was developed with the input from Alaskan parents who participated in focus group discussions across the state. The project launched statewide in February 2014 during Teen Dating Violence Awareness month. During the launch an additional 8 parents were interviewed in the communities of Barrow, Dillingham, Kotzebue, Kodiak, Sitka and Unalaska. To learn more visit the TNTO website at: <http://www.tntoak.org/>

PATHWAYS COMMUNITY BASED PREVENTION PROJECTS & STATEWIDE COMMITTEE PLANNING GROUP

The Pathways to Prevention Statewide Steering Committee was convened by the Alaska Network on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault in 2005 as part of their Cooperative Agreement with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The Committee serves to build the state's capacity to prevent domestic violence. The committee has focused on bringing together all available information on prevalence of DV, risk and protective factors for both victimization and perpetration, and existing prevention efforts. From this, the committee developed a comprehensive plan, Pathways to Preventing Domestic Violence. This plan represents the voices of many Alaskans from diverse professions, regions, cultures and experiences and establishes a framework to organize and coordinate prevention and promotion efforts over the next six years. The Council staff serves as steering committee members and continue to contribute their expertise and resources towards the statewide pathways to prevention plan and project implementation. To view the Pathways to Prevention statewide plan visit: <http://www.andvsa.org/?s=Pathways+plan>

PREVENTION SUMMIT

The Prevention Summit is an annual event that is designed to support the growth of community based, primary prevention work, addressing intimate partner violence, teen dating violence and sexual assault. In 2014, nineteen communities and over 135 participants attended the Summit that was held in Juneau on December 3-5th. During the summit community groups attend team planning sessions, skill building workshops and receive technical assistance in order to build or enhance their community based prevention plans.

Summit workshops are designed to build knowledge in the area of primary prevention work specific to intimate partner violence, teen dating violence and sexual assault prevention. Workshops have beginning and advanced tracks and community teams have the opportunity to choose the workshops that best fits their needs. In addition, workshops highlight many of the barriers to health and safety that are linked to the underlying causes of IPV, TDV and SA as well as highlight current prevention programming underway in Alaska. Attendees participate in pre and post evaluations and are asked to implement at least one locally based primary prevention activity following the summit.

STATE AGENCY PREVENTION WORKGROUP

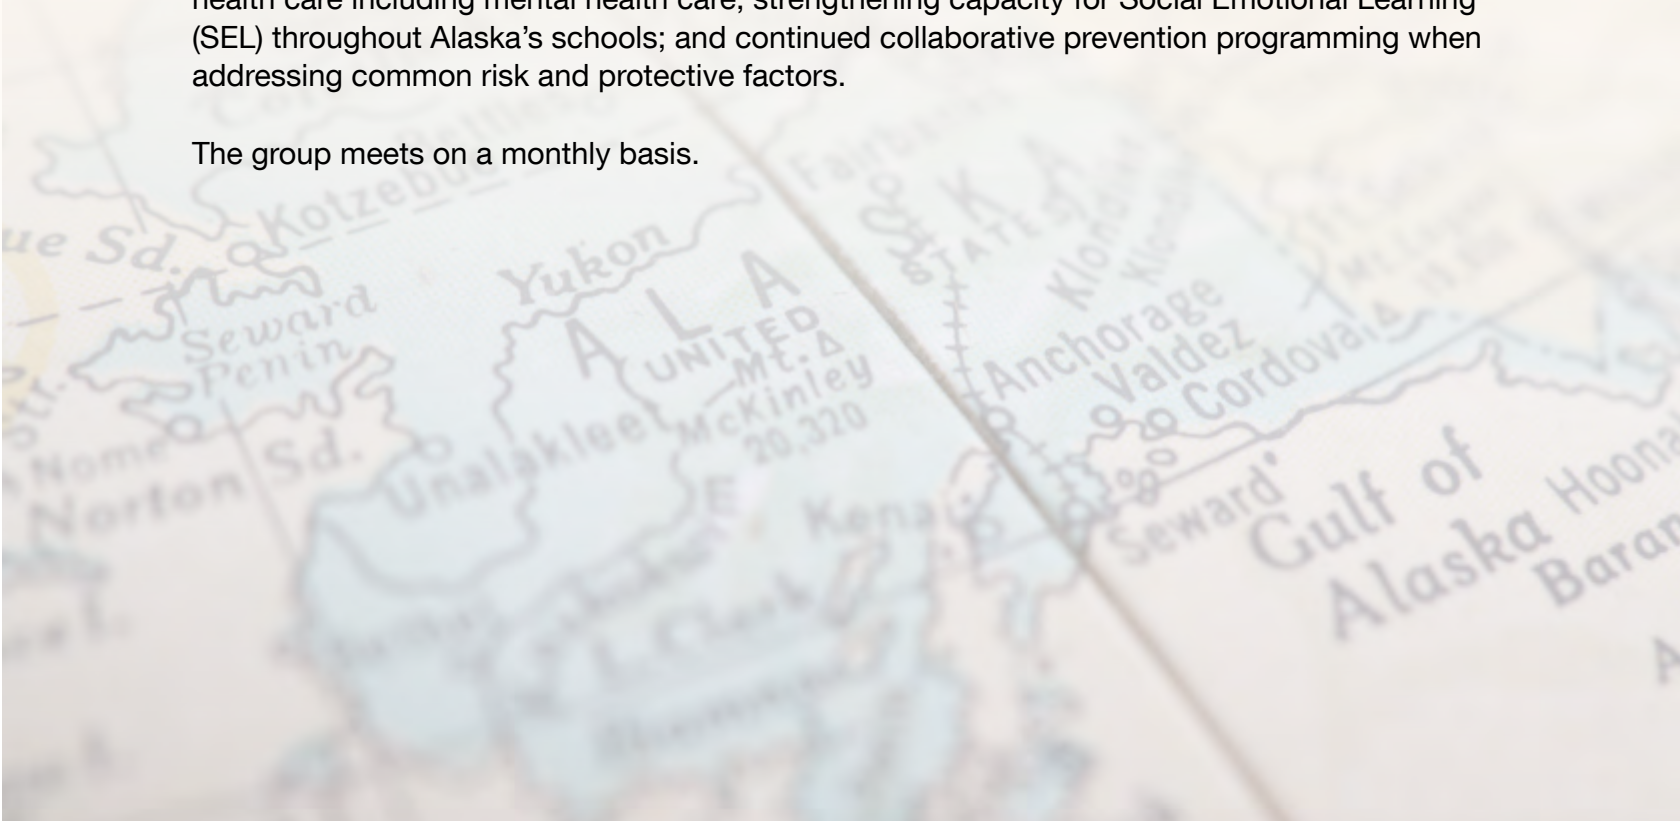

In March 2013 the Council established the State Agency Workgroup on Prevention. The group is comprised of prevention specialists from across state departments including Public Safety, Health and Social Services and Education and Early Development. The workgroup provides a consistent time and forum where prevention specialists can meet and share information across state agencies. The workgroup allows members to:

- Identify opportunities for joint projects, grants and training;
- Identify shared risk and protective factors
- Clarify and maintain areas of prevention work that need unique and concentrated focus
- Make focus area recommendations for state prevention policies and programming.

The workgroup is currently developing joint recommendations on how to better address Alaska's pervasive health and social challenges of suicide, domestic violence, sexual assault, child maltreatment and other adverse childhood experiences (ACEs), alcohol and substance abuse, unintentional injury death, fetal alcohol syndrome, and sexual transmitted diseases. The majority of our prevention strategies are based in early childhood education, intervention, and services.

Recommendations that are being considered by the group focus on the prevention of adverse childhood experiences and include: support for quality early childhood programs; access to health care including mental health care; strengthening capacity for Social Emotional Learning (SEL) throughout Alaska's schools; and continued collaborative prevention programming when addressing common risk and protective factors.

The group meets on a monthly basis.

LEGISLATION

Second Regular Session, 28th Alaska Legislature - January 21st to April 25, 2014

LEGISLATION RELATED TO DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AND/OR SEXUAL ASSAULT

Thanks to Senator Kevin Meyer for sponsoring SB 124, this extends the Council's sunset date through June 30, 2022. All twenty senators signed on as co-sponsors of the bill and all 60 legislators voted in favor of the extension.

Senator Meyer also sponsored SB 128, an act related to electronic bullying. The bill amends the crime of harassment in the second degree to include repeatedly sending or publishing an electronic communication that insults, taunts, challenges, or intimidates a person under 18 years of age in a manner that places the person in reasonable fear of physical injury. Harassment in the second degree is a class B misdemeanor.

Senator John Coghill sponsored SB64, the Omnibus Crime/Corrections/Recidivism bill. Many provisions of the bill do not directly relate to domestic violence or sexual assault. Interested persons are encouraged to get a copy of the enacted bill to see all the statutory changes.

Prior to SB64, the crime of custodial interference could be charged against relatives of a child or incompetent person, the bill amends the crime to include someone who is not a relative of a child or an incompetent person. The bill adds a requirement to bail conditions judicial officers may impose that being a requirement to attend an alcohol and substance abuse monitoring program established by the departments of health and social services and corrections. The requirement may be imposed for a person charged with an alcohol-related or substance abuse-related offense that is an unclassified felony, a class A felony, a sexual felony, or a crime involving domestic violence. The bill also creates the Alaska Criminal Justice Commission. The Commission is comprised of 13 members, one of which is to be a victims' rights advocate appointed by the Governor for a three-year term. The Commission is charged with evaluating the effect of sentencing laws and criminal justice practices on the criminal justice system to evaluate whether those sentencing laws and criminal justice practices provide for protection of the public, community condemnation of the offender, the rights of victims of crimes, the rights of the accused and the person convicted, restitution from the offender, and the principle of reformation.

The Commission shall then make recommendations for improving criminal sentencing practices and criminal justice practices. The recommendations may include legislative and/or administrative actions. The Commission is further required to submit to the governor and the legislature a special report, not later than July 1, 2017, regarding alcohol-related offenses in Alaska Statute Article 28.

Senator Coghill introduced SB 171 regarding multidisciplinary child protection teams. The Alaskan Children’s Justice Act Task Force requested this legislation to clarify there are child abuse cases that may not involve the Office of Children’s Services (OCS) and those cases are also appropriate for review by the multidisciplinary teams.

Senator Coghill introduced SB 187 which amends the crime of misconduct involving confidential information in the first degree to include anyone who publishes or distributes an audio or video recording of an interview of a child, or other physical evidence gathered for a criminal or child protection investigation. Misconduct involving confidential information in the first degree is a class A misdemeanor. The bill further includes court rule changes that add video and audio interviews and photographs of medical exams of victims of crimes of sexual assault in the first, second, third or fourth degree and sexual abuse of a minor in the first, second, third and fourth degree or incest to the list of evidence that must remain in the physical custody of the attorney representing the defendant. The evidence can be shared with the defendant, but the defendant is prohibited from having copies of the materials.

CDVSA RECOMMENDATIONS FOR PROPOSED LEGISLATION FOR THE 29TH ALASKA LEGISLATURE

Create a single payor system to reimburse forensic exam expenses. A single payor system will remove ambiguity of payment responsibility and increase community participation across the state in the sexual assault response team process.

STOP VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN GRANT PROGRAMS

KEY AREAS:

The Council funds a variety of programs through federal STOP (Services * Training * Officers *Prosecutors) Violence Against Women Act grant funds. This grant primarily funds training in four key areas in the work against domestic violence and sexual assault: law enforcement, prosecution, courts, and victim services.

LAW ENFORCEMENT: Department of Public Safety, Alaska State Troopers

- This year, AST focused effort on training in sexual assault investigation by developing the Regional Sexual Assault Investigation course. Department of Public Safety and the Department of Law partnered together to provide a 2.5 day course on sex crimes and sex trafficking to troopers, police officers and prosecutors across the state. The training team included instructors from AST, Law, the Crime Lab, the FBI and Anchorage Police Department. The purpose of the course is to improve investigative and prosecutorial response to sex crimes as well as promote communication and collaboration between law enforcement and prosecutors.
- STOP funded three, Sexual Assault Response Team (SART) trainings in Kenai, Juneau and Anchorage for statewide community teams of forensic nurse examiners, victim advocates, prosecutors, and law enforcement. The training included how to effectively work as a SART from each discipline perspective, the forensic exam kits, investigation, and information on special populations such as those experiencing disability, LGBTQI populations, those with limited English proficiency, and special consideration for those in rural Alaska.
- STOP funds support a Program Coordinator position. This position manages all projects under the grant and serves as a statewide subject matter expert on issues pertaining to domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking.

PROSECUTION: Department of Law

- STOP funds provided comprehensive training to the dedicated prosecutors and paralegals of the criminal division. STOP funds were used by prosecutors and paralegals to attend prosecuting domestic violence and sexual assault training through National District Attorneys Association (NDAA).

- STOP funds maintained the statewide Victim Witness Coordinator position which oversees victim witness services within the 13 district attorney offices, assists with recruiting and hiring of division paralegals, coordinating the annual statewide district attorney and paralegal conference, maintaining a resource library, updating brochures and working on committees to coordinate agency efforts to improve services to victims of domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking.
- STOP funds were used for a mandatory, statewide, two- and a half-day conference for 125 prosecutors and 33 paralegals, titled “Victim Justice Through Negotiations,” that enhanced the participants’ plea negotiation skills in cases involving violence against women in a constructive and positive learning environment facilitated by experienced attorneys serving as faculty.
- The Department of Law and the Department of Public Safety joined forces during this reporting period and put on seven Regional Sexual Assault Investigation training sessions to improve communication and collaboration between law enforcement, prosecution and victim advocates.

COURTS: Alaska Court System

- STOP funding allowed for the Alaska Court System to provide interpreter services in civil domestic violence, stalking and sexual assault protective order matters.
- STOP helped fund a pilot Bail Conditions of Release Project in Fairbanks, the intent of which is to provide immediate online access to police, prosecutors, and the public for active bail orders. As the Bail Conditions pilot comes on line, police, prosecutors and the public are getting immediate on-line access to court bail orders. The pilot has been tested and the Court System is now planning a statewide system.
- STOP funds provided out-of-state training in domestic violence issues to judicial officers and on-site training to judges and court clerical staff on domestic violence issues and changes to court domestic violence forms and procedures.

VICTIM SERVICES: Alaska Network on Domestic Violence & Sexual Assault (ANDVSA)

- STOP funding has allowed ANDVSA to serve 296 victims of domestic violence, stalking, and sexual assault across the state needing civil legal assistance that otherwise would have gone unrepresented.
- ANDVSA uses STOP funds for training member program legal advocates. ANDVSA hosts monthly teleconference trainings with legal advocates.
- ANDVSA holds one in-person training each year for the volunteer attorney pool and the bar-at-large. It is the only in-depth training for attorneys on domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking issues provided to attorneys on an annual basis in the state.
- STOP funds are used for providing programs around the state with legal advocacy resource materials on criminal law, confidentiality, mandated reporting, and other critical legal issues that program workers confront on a daily basis.
- STOP funds were used to coordinate services for victims of domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking using a joint referral process between ANDVSA and the Alaska Institute for Justice (AIJ) for immigrant women with ANDVSA's area of expertise of family law and AIJ's area of expertise of immigration law.
- ANDVSA opened an Anchorage office to better serve program participants from all over the state in this major Alaska-hub. ANDVSA now has offices in Juneau, Sitka and Anchorage.
- ANDVSA meets regularly with court system employees to review the court system's handling of domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking cases. ANDVSA's close working relationship with other civil legal services providers has led to a universal application form for civil legal services which makes it easier for domestic violence/sexual assault victims to access a variety of providers through one form.

FY14-16 Implementation Plan

The Council submitted Alaska's Three Year STOP Implementation Plan for federal fiscal year (FFY) 2014 along with the grant application to the US Department of Justice, Office of Violence Against Women. Three Year Implementation Plans have been a part of STOP for each state and help states direct the use of funds. Alaska sought input statewide from a wide array of professionals and are still collecting and using input from Alaska tribes and other affected populations in Alaska.

FY14 Implementation Committee

PROGRAM SERVICE AREAS

Victim Service Providers:

Since it is not possible to have shelters in every village, programs must provide outreach services to many other communities. Program outreach requires a formalized system in place to contact villages on a regular basis. The purpose of outreach is to work with the village community to provide training, resources, and information to address the issues of domestic violence and sexual assault, stalking, and dating violence. A listing of villages served by each program begins on page 18.

PROGRAM SERVICE AREAS

Batterer's Intervention Programs

During FY11 fifteen batterer intervention programs operated in Alaska; eleven were community based Batterers Intervention Programs (BIP) and four were Prison Batterers Programs (PBP). The Council funds nine of the programs. Many areas of the state still lack ready access to a batterer intervention program. Communities that have BIP or PBP Programs are indicated by a white star: ☆

- Anchorage: The Recovery Connection*
Men and Women Center^F
- Barrow: North Slope Borough Domestic Violence Intervention Program*
- Fairbanks: Life Education Action Program*
- Homer: DV Intervention Program
- Juneau: Batterer's Accountability Program
(PBP and BIP)
- Kenai: Central Peninsula BIP
- Ketchikan: Men Ending Violence
- Kodiak: Violence Intervention Program*
- Palmer: Family Violence Intervention

BATTERER INTERVENTION PROGRAMS

ABOUT BATTERER INTERVENTION PROGRAMS

Batterer Intervention Programs provide a mechanism to heighten both victim safety and batterer accountability. By themselves, they have little chance of rehabilitating perpetrators of domestic violence. They are one part of a coordinated community response to the crime of domestic violence, which includes a strong, integrated criminal justice response.

PROGRAMS IN THE STATE OF ALASKA:

The Council reviews batterer intervention programs according to Department of Corrections regulations (22 AAC Chapter 25) for approved status and monitors the approved programs for compliance on an annual basis. The Council provided small grants to nine of the programs in FY14.

During FY 14, fifteen approved batterer intervention programs operated in Alaska. Eleven were community based Batterer Intervention Programs (BIP) and four were Prison Batterer Programs (PBP). All of these programs have the primary goal of victim safety. The Council works with the Department of Corrections to provide these programs. In FY14, the majority of participants admitted into batterer programs were court ordered.

Intake assessments completed:	227
New victim safety checks	115
Participants completing the program	56
Non-compliant participants	122
Re-arrested participants	38

FUNDING SOURCES

FY 14 CDVSA Authorized Expenditures

FAMILY VIOLENCE PREVENTION SERVICES ACT (FVPSA)

Administered by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Administration of Children and Families, FVPSA provides federal funding to all states. The Council uses this funding to finance domestic violence programs throughout Alaska. All programs receiving these grant funds provide shelter or related assistance to domestic violence victims and their children. The programs operate shelter facilities that are staffed around the clock and provide a full spectrum of services including basic food and immediate shelter, crisis intervention, counseling, and advocacy.

VICTIMS OF CRIME ACT (VOCA)

Administered by the Department of Justice Office of Victims of Crime, VOCA funds provide financial support to state and local agencies that offer services to crime victims. This fund is a U.S. Treasury account generated entirely by the fines and penalties levied against criminals convicted of federal crimes. As such, the amount available in this fund can vary greatly from year to year. The Council awards this funding directly to programs that provide services to victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, and other violent crimes.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE OFFICE OF VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN GRANTS

S.T.O.P. (SERVICES • TRAINING • OFFICERS • PROSECUTORS) GRANT

S.T.O.P grants serve to improve the national response to domestic violence and sexual assault by combining a series of federal sanctions and initiatives as well as national, state, and local resources to improve the response to crimes against women. S.T.O.P. funds are committed to four specific areas: prosecution, law enforcement, victim service, and courts. S.T.O.P. is awarded to all states and territories through a federal formula that uses a base amount plus a consideration for population.

SUPERVISED VISITATION AND SAFE EXCHANGE GRANT PROGRAM (SVSEP)

Funded through the U.S. Department of Justice Office on Violence Against Women, SVSEP provides an opportunity for communities to support the supervised visitation and safe exchange of children in situations involving domestic violence, dating violence, child abuse, sexual assault, or stalking. Studies have shown that the risk of violence is often greater for victims of domestic violence and their children after separation from an abusive situation. Visitation and exchange services provided through SVSEP exhibit a clear understanding of the dynamics of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault and stalking; the impact of domestic violence on children; and the importance of holding offenders accountable for their actions.

SEXUAL ASSAULT SERVICES PROGRAM (SASP)

Funded through the U.S. Department of Justice Office on Violence Against Women, the purpose of SASP is to provide intervention, advocacy, accompaniment (e.g., accompanying victims to court, medical facilities, police departments, etc.), support services, and related assistance for adult, youth, and child victims of sexual assault, non-offending family and household members of victims, and those collaterally affected by the sexual assault.

GRANTS TO ENCOURAGE ARREST POLICIES PROGRAM (GTEA)

Funded through the U.S. Department of Justice Office on Violence Against Women, the goal of the GTEA project is to increase access to legal information and advocacy for victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, and child victimization throughout the state. This award provides training, mentoring and support for Alaska's network of legal advocates resulting in increased access to legal advocacy for victims in remote areas of the state. Training on working with limited English proficient victims along with linguistically and culturally appropriate services are also provided.

STATE FUNDING SOURCES

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND SOCIAL SERVICES

In FY 2014, the Department of Health and Social Services (DHSS) provided funds to the Council for Sexual Assault Prevention activities. These funds were from the federal Sexual Assault Prevention (SAP) program and state Behavioral Health. SAP funds educational programming in Anchorage schools and Behavioral Health dollars support programs providing shelter to those who are or who are at risk of being victims of substance abuse related violence.

DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS

In 2014, the Department of Corrections (DOC) provided funds to the Council to grant to batterer intervention programs providing services in three facilities. DOC also provides funds to the Council to administer the Community-based Batterer Intervention Programs.

ALASKA GENERAL FUND

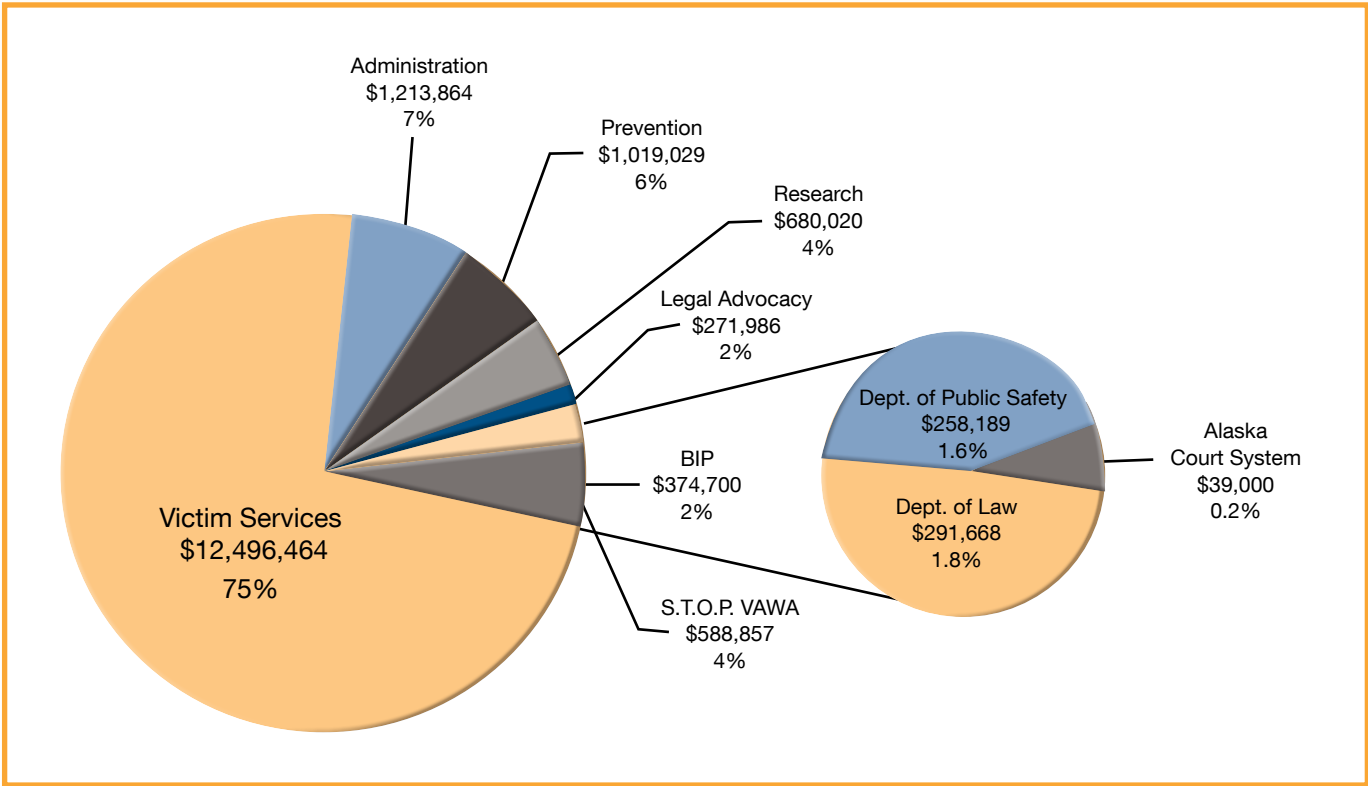

General funds comprise a majority of the budget; they are used to support victim services, batterer intervention programs and Council administration. General funds also support statewide prevention and research activities.
