Good morning!

We recently received a new datamaster to replace our old datamaster that needs to be returned. This is just a routine return, and the old data master needs to go back for routine maintenance. The new data master we received is not functioning. The device was plugged in, went through a standard boot up process, and then the machine clicked and no longer has power. We attempted to boot the device using different outlets and power cables to get the machine to boot up but this did not work. I have set up the old data master device, and I have the new one (that is not functioning) put back into the hard case. I have a dispatcher who is attending a training located at the crime lab this week. I could send the broken data master unit up with him if you guys are available to receive it. If needed, you are welcome to call me at 907-831-9052. Thank you for your time!
